

CITY OF LONDON DISTILLERY

The City of London has a rich gin history. During the Gin Craze in the 18th century there was a gin distillery or gin shop in every street in the City benefiting from the spices and citrus fruits coming into the port of London. When the Gin Craze ended, very few gin distilleries survived, and for nearly 200 years there wasn't a single gin distillery in the City. That is until the City of London Distillery opened in 2012.

The Master's lady, Fiona, would like to invite you to join her for a tour of the distillery on Thursday 16th May.

Tour One will be 5.00pm, finishing around 6.00

Small Eats 6.00-6.30 - for both Tour One and Tour Two

Tour Two will be at 6.30 finishing around 7.30

Tickets - £43 per head (including tour, tasting of 3 gins, eats, and £5 voucher towards a bottle of gin.)

Replies to clerk@surveyorslivery.org.uk indicating number of attendees and which tour is preferred.

